School Days '73-'74

H.H. Dow High

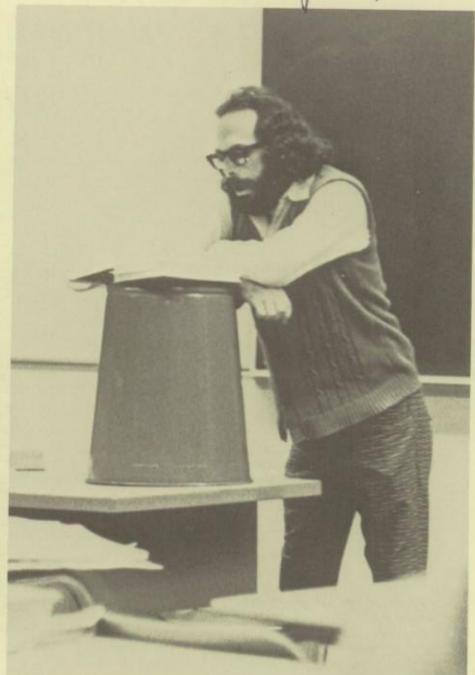

Midland, Michigan

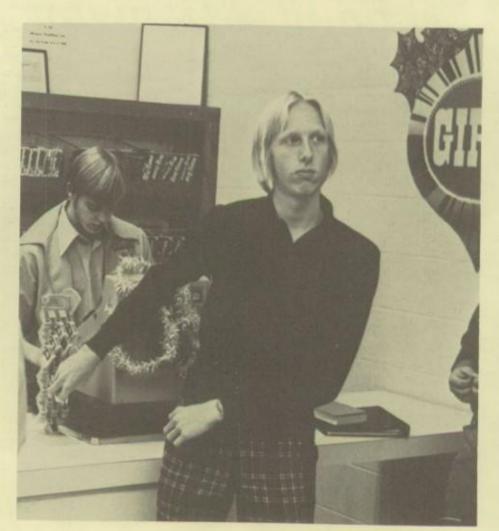

as the joys of summer living dwindled away into september, the realization that another school year was upon us became very obvious. for the sophomores it was a time for new ideas; high school seemed to loom up before the newcomers like some vast and awesome monster complete with room numbers without rooms, huge upperclassmen, and many added responsibilities. for the juniors it was a halfway mark. having finally overcome their "smart - alec - sophomore" label, they had learned some of the joys and sorrows of school on a firsthand basis and were a bit cautious but still enthusiastic. for the seniors it was the beginning of the end of the beginning. they were coming back as the wise and "always right" seniors. june seemed to be so far away and yet, sometimes, just a bit too close. finally, for the staff and administration, it was a new start, there were new "minds to mold". having had three months to recouperate from their last encounter, they were ready to have another go at it. this group of individuals mixed together by occurrences in and out of the classroom, combines to give shape to the events which are chronicled in this book.

A little controlled chaos to liven up the day

a day with dragons and chargers, indians and madmen. does that sound like the typical day at dow high? well, even if it might, that's not what it was. it was "dress-up day", a part of dow's homecoming weekend. the day was complete with an unscheduled "parade" put on by the senior class rowdies. although some of the gruesome faces on some individuals were a surprise, some people seemed to feel it was an improvement.

Hypnotic sights and sounds

among this year's special happenings were the hypnotist assembly and the homecoming dance. we all seem to be in a hypnotic state half of the time anyway, but in february the student union brought back dr. irwin ross, the famed hypnotist to deepen our trances. he was especially successful with several seniors. dr. ross didn't have much new material, but he was still pretty entertaining and his subjects were too. "magic" played in the gym loft for the homecoming dance and dow high's reputation for wild dances was upheld. "may we both get what we want, and may it be what we wanted when we get it . . . "?

guys cheering and girls playing football may sound like a twenty-first century happening but in the fall of 1973 it was all very real and exciting for dow high's female football fans. the senior girls challenged the juniors and, of course, the seniors won. it was rough, but it was a challenge and both teams played very well.

How I didn't whink of you

this year's homecoming was once again proof of the fact that you can lose and still have fun. the homecoming activities started on wednesday, october 24, with a snake dance and bonfire. next came dress-up day on the day of the game. the seniors were leading the way with tricia paskiewicz's portrayal of the charger symbol. then next came the parade. the first prize for floats was captured by the seniors while the furgie family captured first place in the vw competition. in the football game, however, the chargers found themselves in trouble. they were beat 36-0 by bay city handy, the charger spirit was dampened, but not drowned. the students and returning alumni kept spirits high by rocking out to "magic". in the homecoming court were terri melvin, bev romesburg, robin wisner, rose sinclair, lynette zondlak, lynne williams, karen grindahl and heidi smith. all in all, the homecoming celebration was a success for everybody.

The student union makes it happen!

amidst the confusion and hassles of trying to survive the school day, there is someone on your side - the student union, the union is composed of nine very talented and conscientious individuals who are interested in promoting student harmony by rock-n-roll, getting students out of their day to day trance by an assembly with a hypnotist, and untangling the rolls of red tape involved in organizing and building clubs and student oriented activities. the union is not only interested in helping present groups continue along their present paths but is also concerned with helping future organizations find a path upon which they can travel. furthermore, the union will listen to hassels or complaints with policies and is always welcome to suggestions for improvement of current rules and regulations. although the union does not have total control over operation of all school functions and rules, they are always more than willing to suggest ideas for improvement to the proper authorities. the union is constantly working for the improvement and enjoyment of our facilities and their hard working attitude for change is not only refreshing but contrary to the apathy the student body is often accused of.

despite the fact that almost everyone on the staff was fired at least 47 times by ol' j. r. and the fact that the only time it was possible to find anything anyone needed was if it was under a humungous pile of pictures or papers, the yearbook staff once again has come through as planned (?). with nostalgia as the theme, the staff went to work in july and didn't let up until june. late nights in the office, after school everyday, saturday afternoons, lunch hours and any spare minutes during the day were utilized to their fullest extent. and if it hadn't been for mrs. gentel, this whole business could have turned into chaotic ruin.

After nine months of hard labor the Yearbook Staff gives birth to a brand spanking new, bright, shining, beautiful, fantastically marvelous Baby Yearbook!

D.H.S. Varsity Club vs. M.H.S. Varsity Club: Al's Sport Shop vs. Detroit Lions in Tom Hiser Benefit.

this year the dow high varsity club (sometimes called "the lettermen"), together with the midland high varsity club, sponsered the tom hiser benefit. They played basketball against each other with midland high emerging victorious. after this entertaining event, a local team, al's sport shop, played basketball against the detroit lions. the lions triumped after kicking a field goal, and accomplishing a touchdown on a fake. the varsity club also raised five-hundred dollars toward a new video tape machine. the varsity club is under the direction of all the coaches this year.

Strike up the band

although being a part of any band is difficult and sometimes frustrating, our band has managed to maintain its standard of quality and its enthusiasm towards their music and performances. once again this year, mr. burgess and the band have helped to rouse the loyalty and pride we at dow high have for our school and team.

Sing out ...

dow high's choir is now divided into two hours, so more kids could find time for singing. that means they're bigger and with charles noneman as coach, they've got to be better, but how much better can the best get? our pianist is willetta green. in between songs, she plays a little boogie and generally disrupts the class.

New Literature Club travels to Stratford

this year a new club was formed by mrs. gentel and some students to make possible once again the trip to stratford on avon in ontario to see some shakespearean drama. this trip was taken in may, money for these outings was obtained by renting movies and showing them to the student body.

the international affairs club is composed of students recognized by the student union. only 3 schools in the u. s. are invited to participate in the model u. n. held in the hague, netherlands at the end of january. this dow high club is due to the efforts of tracy gooding, a former student who lived in the netherlands for several years. because of her action, dow high was invited to participate in the model u. n. there are also several model u. n. organizations in the u. s. and the international affairs club hopes to be able to attend these as well.

this small, but ambitious club started out the year with high hopes to visit our northern neighbors in quebec. they worked on making money for the trip by selling candy. but because of the shortage of funds and people, the trip was eventually cancelled. however, the club still plans on a spring camping trip. hopefully more students will show an interest in the french club next year. if so, a trip to quebec can happen.

the dow high spanish club is small, but efficient. sometimes a speaker comes to talk to the group and sometimes the speaker is a travel agent. he usually talks about the rates and routes of a tour in latin america; the spanish club's goal being to descend upon south america as a unit. while they are waiting and earning money, the group goes to delta and c.m.u. they make special trips to see dances, films and "fiestas". in between these cultural events, the club earns money. for two years, the spanish club has sold the "green machine" charger buttons. they have operated a concession stand at the football games.

almost all business education students are involved in decca. the club runs the charger shop and learns while keeping their fellow classmates well supplied with candy and gum (much to the teachers' dismay), erasers, pencils, paper and all things imaginable. this year they've even added comic books to their stock of items to keep students busy during important chemistry lectures. they learn how to take care of business money matters and help out the school fund raisers and certain functions.

It's a small world

my name is jorgan haafstad and I am an exchange student from oslo, norway. I have been here for only three months but am enjoying myself much. some major differences between these two cities are the size and terrain. oslo is huge, but expensive. midland is a perfect size. from the first time I heard about your school I have been impressed and I was even more impressed when I first met dow high. my school was smaller and older but also more relaxed than dow. you have a much bigger selection of classes than in european countries. there is also more modern and better equipment here than I am used to. there are plenty of rooms and good teachers. I don't need to worry about grades and can take classes that appeal to me. I think to be an exchange student is a great chance to experience and meet people. I couldn't do it in norway.

hello. I am maria de lourdes eguez. people here call me pochy. I am 18 and in my country — quito, equador — I have finished school. I went to a private school where the nuns were stricter. in quito, I usually studied 15 subjects a year and had 7-8 classes. I am a language nut. in your school, I am studying german and I have learned french and english. my friends tell me my german sounds funny and it is because of my accent. I am a perfectionist; in america I want my speech to sound american. it feels freer here. people can do more here and I feel that this gives them a chance to develope their own personalities.

the "big board" (en route to the gym) shows only the school records that have been broken since the opening of dow high school. so the dow high track coach, ernie malzahn, put up his own boards. these "clubs" (referring to such and such a time) keep a record of all the trackers who have been especially good. these people contributed to dow's landslide victories of not less than 29 points each meet: dave hernandez (440 and 880), top plamp (2 mile), paul grabiel (1 mile), jim hitchcock (22), doug greason and rick burks (high jump).

Grenkoski leads baseball team

the varsity baseball team suffered it's first losing season with an 8-17 record. the team played well with many juniors in key positions. many games were lost by sheer chance (close scores); dow held state champ midland to only a 4-5 deficit. capt. mark grenkoski led the team with his number of stolen bases (top-notch bandit!) and was the "most valuable player." outstanding infielder and outfielder (bruce len, brad hobbs) were chosen for the all-valley second team. mark purtell was "best pitcher" and kirt jurn led the team in rbi's. the j.v. team beat midland two times!!! although the rest of the season wasn't so lucky, personal scores accumulated are impressive. best team average is rashotte's. rbi and batting leaders are cronkright and ellis. russel was the winner when it came to home runs.

the boys' tennis team once again came through as stars. they kept up their record by once again capturing the saginaw valley championship, then went on to win second place in the state finals. it was at these finals that sophomore kevin cook became the first state champion from midland. with final scores of 6-3, 5-7, and 7-5, he took the singles trophy away from a worthy grand rapids opponent. congratulations, kevin!

Girls' swim team splashes their way to victory after victory the girls' swim team, with mrs. wentz in her first year of coaching, had a splashing season. the team was fortunate to have good talent to put together a 6-1-1 season record. the one loss and one tie were both suffered at the hands of midland high. the team was lead by tri-captains kristy nummy, tina kangas, and sue mounts. two team members, lynne williams and nancy moss, achieved the best qualifying times and traveled to rochester for the state swim meet.

the ever improving cross country team succeeded in once again proving that practice makes perfect, or at least better. the chargers ran hard in grueling after school workouts . . . and it payed off. the dow harriers worked their way up to a third place finish in a highly competitive valley west division. coach rathbun felt the team accomplished their basic goal for the season, which was to place better in the valley meet. two juniors on the team, tom plamp and tim myers qualified for the state meet.

dow high's golf team took first place in the saginaw valley tournament. what's so great about hitting a poor little ball? apparently, the boys take this little sympton of senility seriously because the varsity and junior varsity teams have played a total of forty-one other nutty teams! their mania has carried them away from home and many miles in order to play those matches. congratulations go to marc gilmore who, by breaking his ankle after the first match, ended the season with the lowest average on the team!

Chargers play tough football despite losses

the chargers plunged headlong into the football season this year, high in spirits and a little shorthanded in experience, after losing their opener to an always tough alpena team, the chargers lost a hard fought contest to mt. pleasant. next they took on state champions saginaw arthur hill, and they, along with many other teams, more than met their match. dow finally put it together against pontiac in a close exciting game. dow once more found victory the following week against flint northwestern. the chargers were only able to compile one more win, however, that being against mearthur. the season ended in a loss to city rival midland high. ken phelps was the only charger named to the all valley squad and rich alexander received the midland daily news award for the most outstanding player. alexander was also named most valuable lineman and dave thorton was the most valuable back. the season was hard fought all the way from beginning to end and the chargers never gave up. they made key plays in many situations, but were hurt by fumbles and interceptions.

Varsity Basketball: the Chargers had a Challenging Season

after having won the first game of the year against midland high, the chargers went on to complete a very challenging season. their opponents were among the best teams in the state. they had 7 wins and many losses, but no matter. because we love them anyway. the players were tough and quick and really gave the other teams something to worry about. a special congratlations must go to coach tom perkins. this was his first year as coach of the dow charger team and he did a commendable job. but with the efforts of such players as greg rogers, rick burks, alex hembree, kevin cook, and mike vincent - how could he help but do a good job.

the 1973-74 charger swim team had one of the best seasons it's ever had. the main point getters for dow were dave mccormic, hal gooch, randy johnson, ken johnson, stuart gentry, peter maneri, and eric norbury. with the help of the outgoing seniors, coach pangborn has also shaped a bright future for the chargers with such sophomores as charlie grant, steve litherland, and ralph matalon. though all of the opponents the swim team met provided a challenge, there is no doubt that the midland — dow meet held the biggest display of team spirit ever. congratulations to the "winningest" winter sport!

this year, girl's volleyball became a winter sport, enabling tennis and swimming participants to tryout for it. the team aimed at the basics of volleyball—a good serve and bump, set, spike offense. this year's team depended a lot on sharon reger and jackie stafford to keep the opponent on the defense. the team practiced hard and the varsity squad was victorious over midland high, eisenhower, macarthur, and saginaw. the j. v. season record was 2-8 and they defeated saginaw high twice.

Dow Highs Pom Pon Girls

people don't realize the work that goes into being a pom-pon girl. it requires all of a girl's free time. they have to come up with songs and ideas of routines to go with the song. by the time they are to perform, the routine must be learned by heart. when the girls get out on the floor, it's their smile that counts. a smile expresses enthusiasm for the routine. pep is an example of their school spirit, an important asset. tryouts are judged by the smile, pep, and then the talent. it all adds up to fun, and for girls who enjoy dancing and entertaining, the pom-pon is a way to express it. andi vidal

Industrial Arts: A vital part of

drafting, mechanics, graphics and shop are very important to the growth of a society such as ours. our drafting students pave the way for new and more functional building while expressing themselves artistically as well. graphics is the major form of mass non-verbal communication and is a great contributor to advertisement. mechanics and shop are what keeps the country moving and in grand condition. these are the basic building blocks of any progressive country today.

Sociology: the science of society's evolution

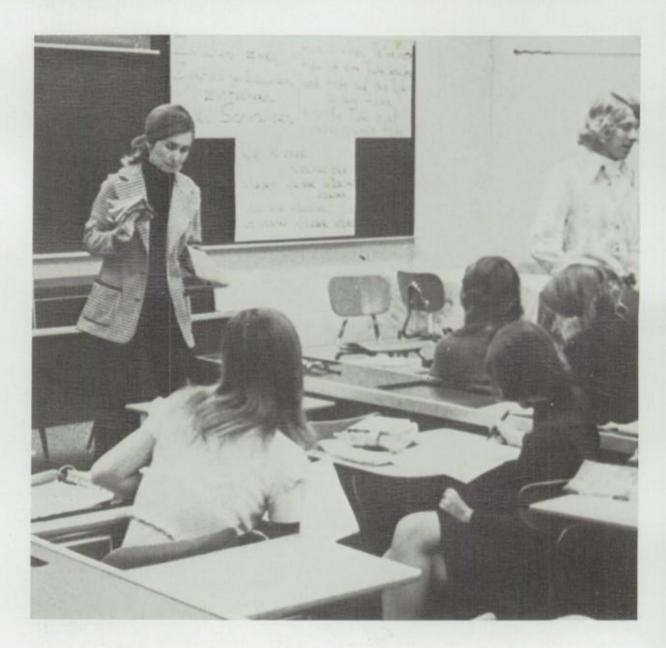

mr. schultz tries to help his students grasp the meaning of sociology, what it is and how it applies to today.

one of the most interesting events of the year was a game called "boundary breaking". it was put on by the psychology and sociology departments with the soul purpose of breaking down the barriers of indifference between people. for one day, groups of six to seven students got together and really tried to get to know one another, this was done through a series of questions asked of each individual . . "if you could smash one thing and one thing only, what would you smash?" (hate, poverty, t. v.'s, my mother . . .) "there are certain people you have seen all year in the halls yet you refrain from greeting them, why?" (they might not like me, they might think i'm crazy . . .) at the end of the time period most people went away with a greater understanding of those around him or her.

Do you know a foreign language?

if not, you could be missing out on something very useful, as many language students can tell you. a foreign language course offers a chance to learn something that is practical, such as; if you happen to get lost in paris and you don't know where the public johns are, it could come in handy; if you are walking down a street in madrid and a policeman arrests you for possession (?), you can explain yourself if you happen to know spanish; if you are in a restaurant in east berlin and you really don't care for saurkraut today because you just went through the most harrowing experience with the gestapo, german could be a great asset.

our french teachers — mrs. melcher and miss stearns; our spanish teachers — miss sanborn and mrs. garcia; and our german teacher — mrs. fitzgerald, spend many hours planning lessons and encouraging all of their students to try their best. the benefits of having taken a foreign language are endless and most students find it as the ultimate way for learning discipline and the art of studying.

Journalists have a great "Impact" on Dow High

despite a lot of blood, sweat, and tears, dow high's journalism class managed to produce twelve issues of the school year. led by editor, becky cox and advisor miss wildner the following comments could be heard floating throughout the room: "okay, who's the wise guy that ripped off the layout sheets?"; "why are the lights out in the typing room? you can't type in the dark."; "oh my gosh, where's becky!?"; "you know, robel, you're the only photographer that I know who's afraid to set foot in the darkroom."; "all features are due the 21st for those of you who wish to avoid the guillotine!"

Our library is the apple of a bookworm's eye

this year our library has a lot of new paperbacks and hardcovers for dow high students to bury their faces and minds in. in addition to all the fiction books we have, there is also a great variety of non-fiction dealing with subjects from racism and social problems to poetry and plays. the reference section is packed with all sorts of information on anything and everything one would happen to be interested in.

"students who desire to participate in the co-op program are asked to specify an interest area. they are then sent on interviews that are consistent with that interest, or closely. generally more than one student is sent for the same job opportunity and the employer selects the student that will best meet the requirements of the job. many co-op students are retained throughout the summer. this decision is made by the employer and generally is determined by the needs of the business and the performance of the student during the year."

The guys in the white hats

the dow high school administration does more than separate paper clips from rubber bands. it has an important part in helping this school function. the big man behind the scene is our one and only mr. clark. with his assistant, mr. page, they manage to open the school each morning much to the dismay of the students. mr. quick, the athletic director, does many other things besides coaching the football team. he must cope with the many problems that arise in the athletic department; from supplying the girls with football jerseys to psyching the guys up for the game. these aren't just the school administrators though, they are also friends to many of the students. they can be seen frequently throughout the day chatting and laughing with the students. this helps to create a good relationship that exists between the administration and students here at dow.

whether it's fixing a jammed locker or preparing a gourmet special such as the "tomato and bread concotion" more commonly known as pizza, our cooks and custodians are hard at work. getting up hours before us to wax the floors so we can fill them with mud. perhaps you've often wondered how those delicious delicate donuts are painfully prepared. the cooks have to get up pretty early to make those treats for us. next time you come into class and find the desks all switched around you'll know the custodians have been hard at work on the floors. or the next time you go into the bathroom and discover that the graffiti has been removed from the walls you'll know that the custodians have been there. so the next time you take a bite of that mouth watering hot dog or find a bright shiny floor when you step in the door remember the cooks and custodians.

if the day to day drag of inverse functions or the study of willie loman's self image leaves you less than enthused, try school service. you can work anywhere from the charger shop to the a. v. center, and not only do you get class credit for your efforts but you enjoy what you do. you can work in the chemistry lab or the library, drama or even on the yearbook. it's a fun way of passing your school days and bringing home a good grade.

"Coach"

safe & Dound.

last june mr. hiser was involved in a swimming accident that caused him to spend a long summer in ann arbor hospitals. as the school year began we kept in touch through cassette tapes. it didn't seem right not to have his office door open in september, but come december, it was the most popular place in the building. everyone wanted to let him know in their own words, not just by way of a hallmark card, that they really cared. since then, students and faculty have really come to realize that mr. hiser's "coaching" days have just begun.

Jour you. I dove you.

Sometimes words are superfluous, so ...

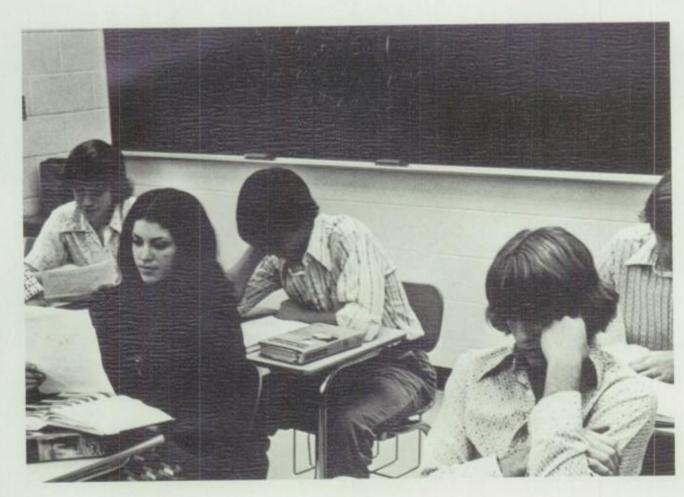

I love you

American business is realizing more and more it can contribute a good deal more than money to enrich cultural life. Dow Corning is a prime example of this concept and at the same time has found a way to support youth in its artistic endeavor. Dow Corning is a youthful company, both in years and outlook. We have based our success on creating products from molecules never found in nature, and tailoring them to meet mankind's ever-changing needs. Our annual Christmas Card Design Contest, now in its 18th year, is another way in which we support the concept of new ideas and new approaches.

Logther, & most of all love to que "Signs, signs, everywhere's a sign ..."

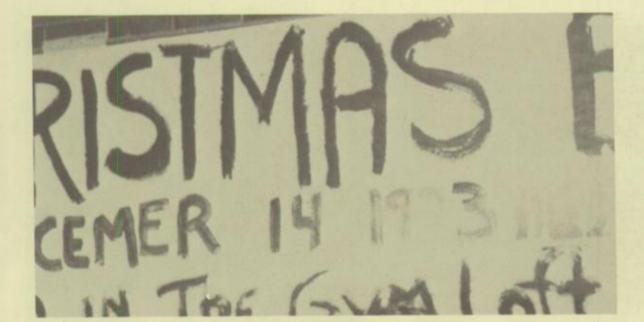

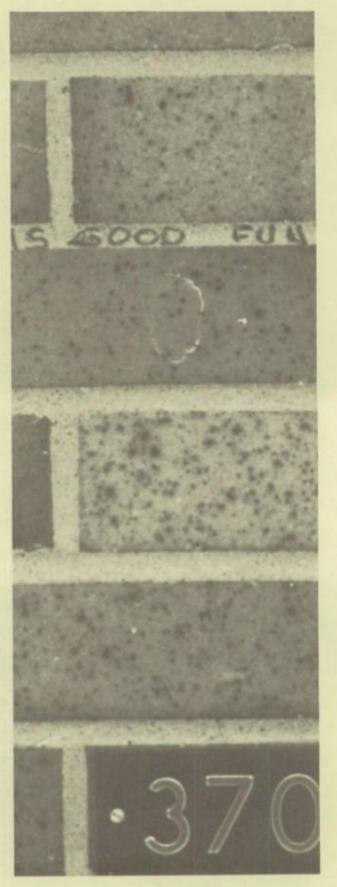

for the rest of our lives.

I wish we could touch each

All things must end ...

to make way for something new

the events recorded during this year will become a blurred memory with the passing of time. many of the faces we know will someday be vague and unfamiliar. the statistics, that now seem so important, will all become lost in the ever pressing shift of time. the teacher, whom we can't seem to forget even if we try, eventually too will be a fading memory. the victories over exams and athletic rivals will be barely recalled, even though they are of major consequence now. even the laughter and tears of our closest relationships with others may someday seem far off and remote, if not for this book. when our days of "jollies" seem to have vanished with the growth of maturity and added responsibility, this book will remind us of good ol' dow high, the pages will have the ability to bring back memories, that our minds might lose. this yearbook. along with a dust covered diploma and maybe a pressed corsage or an old "rock-n-roll" album, may be our only evidence of our high school escapades for our grandchildren. so as some of us leave for the last time, we will remember the hard work and rowdiness that really made up our high school experiences.

I wish our talks alled befall to fall the time has come to say the words which will finally finish this book, and those words are "thank-you!" there are so many people who helped to see that this book finally got printed. firstly, to mrs. gentel, who gave of her time, friendship, and occasional banana splits, I would like to acknowledge the staff's appreciation and friendship, without your encouragement and understanding we would probably still be working on the first deadline. I would also like to thank mr. gary benson , of american yearbook company, for putting up with strange questions and phone calls at unheard of hours, the administration and building staff deserve credit for their help, too, words of wit and wisdom from mr. clark and mr. page often brightened the outlook on things around our office, the custodians will be happy to know that we will not be making them wait for us on saturday afternoon any longer, the secretaries will rejoice to learn that we intend to pay them back for all the paper and ditto sheets we borrowed. I guess I would also like to voice a special thanks to my friends and parents and also those of the staff members. your jokes and smiles, and occasional prods helped keep us from giving up around deadline times, thanks also for putting up with our lack of concern about all our other obligations at times, to the photographers, especially edgar norbury, dan barker, and chris foster, I would like to express my gratitude, your many hours of taking pictures, developing, and printing have been a major part of the making of this book, you can rest assured that no one will sneak up behind you with a list of pictures to print in fifteen minutes, ever again, to pat krahnke, maggie steinhoff, and the rest of the staff, what can I say? I think if I just say "we're finally finished" you will understand what I mean, you won't have to give up any more of your time; you've given so much of it already, thanks, finally to the student body who spent their hard earned dollars on this book, the staff hopes you will find this book one of your more enjoyable memories of dow high.

"and you wonder where we're going, where's the rhyme, where's the reason, and it's you that cannot accept it is here we must begin; to seek the wisdom of the children, and the grace and way of the flowers in the wind, for the children and the flowers are my sisters and my brothers, their laughter and their lovliness could clear a cloudy day, like the music of the mountains and the colors of the rainbow, they're a promise of the future and a blessing for today."

I'm glad you saved me a page! Well, you've made this year the best year of my life. Hopefully we will have many more just like it. You're the sweetest (sugary) jock I know you CC. picture proces it. All those girts in your expos. class, himm, there is more of them (totally, heh, heh) thoir there is of me so I quess I im out numbered. I'll just have to story jealous! you're perfect! You give up alot for me. I appreciate it, too. (Believe it or not!) we will have to apply at Mac's pretty soon. or we will have to be poor together we will also have to get you a bank account so your mons won't be burnhing a bole in your pocket. the see I'm not the only one who likes what you do. -> Well have to take a poll to find out who else does. This summer you'll be pulled between Tomis & my houses I really like you to spend time with lom after all you may be needing him. (Think statement) Dollike to announce that Dan Klein has broken the record for the most aching muscles in a year. He had 2011. Last record was 1817 held by Hark Sabourin. Guess what you win. I lifetime supply of ... drum roll ... Ben's Gay! Alright! Well, lover, I love you so stay by me forever, oxay? you promised, remember?
